

HOUSE WRECKED BY WHITECAPS

Then Deputy Sheriff Weisse, of St. James, L. I., Got Note Threatening Tar and Feathers Unless He Left Town.

TROUBLE BELIEVED TO BE OVER HOUSEKEEPER.

Weisse, Who Is Village Barber, Was Popular in the Town and Rewarded with Office for His Political Activity.

Have you had enough, or will it take a coat of tar and feathers to induce you to shake the dust of St. James from your feet?

That was the unpleasant message received in the morning mail to-day by Deputy Sheriff Rudolph Weisse, of St. James, L. I., as he stood in the precinct that a mysterious dynamite explosion had made in his home.

Weisse is the village barber of St. James, an independent man, according to report, and with enough political popularity to be rewarded with an appointment as Deputy Sheriff for his activity as a Republican worker.

He had no enemies that any one knew of until a few months ago, when his wife died and he brought her remains, Mrs. Weisse, down from New York to keep house for him and his two children. Mrs. Weisse is separated from her husband. She is only twenty-three years old.

Goats in the Village.

There has been gossip about Weisse and his young housekeeper, but no one imagined that there was any particular feeling over the matter until the developments of the last two days.

Weisse had closed his barber shop for the night and was counting the contents of his money drawer when an explosion occurred in the basement that almost brought the place down about his head. His children were thrown out of bed by the shock. The manials were swept clean of ornaments and mirrors and were shaken from the wall and broken. Every dish in the house and most of Weisse's shaving mugs were shattered, and the plaster was blown from the ceiling. Weisse, his housekeeper and his two children, when they recovered from the shock, ran screaming into the street.

The report of the explosion had aroused the villagers, and though a crowd quickly gathered and search was made, no clue was found to the perpetrator.

Authorities Have Letter.

Weisse and his family went back to the wrecked home and in the morning mail came the letter signed "Whitecaps" which convinced the barber that an explosion was the work of secret enemies. The letter has been turned over to the county authorities.

It has also aroused public sympathy for Weisse, and Samuel A. Gould, proprietor of the St. James Hotel, wrote him a note offering to contribute $50 toward a reward for the arrest of the "whitecaps."

SAY MOONSHINERS KILLED MR. WENTZ

His Relatives Believe That Was Fate of Young Millionaire for Whose Body $55,000 Reward Is Offered.

ST. STONE GAP, Va., Nov. 12.—Relatives have abandoned hope of finding Edmund Leisenring Wentz alive. The last clue has failed and there is no longer any confidence in the theory that moonshiners are holding the young millionaire for ransom.

Searching parties will be kept at work in the belief that the young man's body will be found in the wilderness of the Black Mountains. There are many hundreds of caves in the region, many of which are known to only a few. A great many of these caves have been searched, but so dense is the growth that the space searched is no larger than a station island.

After several weeks of inquiry and search Wentz's brother believes he was the victim of moonshiners across the Kentucky line in the Cumberland Mountains. Young Wentz was manager and principal owner of the great estates of the Virginia Coal and Iron Company and sent a posse into the mountains to drive out the moonshiners.

Since then they have been his enemies and he had often been warned not to go into the woods alone. His brother thinks the moonshiners shot him down and perhaps hid his body in one of the many caves or carried it to some other sequestered place.

Many persons outside the family still believe the young man is being held for a ransom. This theory has been abandoned because no demand has been made by the moonshiners and no word has come from them, although the rewards offered now aggregate $55,000.

HARRY ROSE "MUTE" AT MURDER TRIAL

Counsel for Former Stage Manager, Accused of Killing His Wife, Says He Was Once Declared Insane.

When Harry Rose, the former stage manager of the Garrick Theatre, who shot and killed his wife a year ago, was arraigned before Justice Vernon M. Davis in the criminal branch of the Supreme Court to-day to plead to an indictment for murder in the first degree, his counsel, Benjamin Steinhardt, refused to allow him to speak.

"The defendant stands mute," Mr. Steinhardt said, "and inasmuch as he was once declared insane and irresponsible for his act I do not think it is at all incumbent upon me to put in any defense. This court has no further jurisdiction in the matter."

Justice Davis told Mr. Steinhardt he was not going to argue the constitutionality of any point raised, and by direction of the Court a plea of not guilty was entered on the record.

SHOT AT WIFE AND HELD UP A BOY

Mrs. Shank Says Husband at Pistol's Point Demanded His Life Insurance Policy—Threatened to Shoot Lad.

Accused by his wife with shooting at her and charged by a policeman with attempting to hold up a fourteen-year-old boy, John Shank, forty years old, of No. 615 Broadway, Astoria, was held to-day by Magistrate Conner, in the London Island City Police Court.

Mrs. Shank said her husband came home intoxicated and demanded his life insurance policy. She refused to give it to him and he shot at her. Then he ran from the house and a few minutes later was found by Policeman Bleck-needle aiming the pistol at fourteen-year-old Willie Schmidt, shouting "Hands up! Money or your life!"

Magistrate Conner could not refrain from a little gun on the case, remarking, as he sent the prisoner to a cell:

"The prisoner was half shot, he shot at his wife and almost shot at a boy; how old is Ann?"

SOME WOMEN WOULD RATHER DIE THAN SUFFER HUMILIATION WHICH DYSPESIA BRINGS.

Nothing is more humiliating to a sensitive woman than dyspepsia. Even at the dinner table a bitter fluid and half-digested food rise in her throat.

After a time the solicitude and sympathy of her friends become disgust. Equally annoying is the necessity of declining first one article of food after another because they do not agree with her.

Now there is hope for every sufferer. If Mrs. Killington, whose letter follows, could be cured, there is no reason why any woman should continue to suffer.

"I had caught of the stomach for seven or eight years. I had used many remedies and had been told to have four bottles of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets and feel better than I have for ten years. I am able to eat about and can eat most anything now. I feel like the Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets to all my friends suffering from stomach troubles. The tablets cure stomach troubles by supplying the one element the absence of which in the gastric juices causes indigestion and dyspepsia. They enable the stomach to digest all kinds of food and to quickly convert it into rich, red blood."

We know what Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are and what they will do. We guarantee them to cure indigestion and dyspepsia. If they fail, we will refund your money.

The Wanamaker Store Men's Overcoats Cheapness Without Brag

It is our duty to create every possible bargain for our Public and to give each bargain publicity. But to match the simple truth about exceptional cheapness against fanciful and imaginative statement is a hard proposition. Nevertheless duty must be done, and this is the story:

A Century Overcoat Club—only one hundred Overcoats of heavy Oxford-mixed cheviot, just out of the tailors' hands, well made, and the best bargain this season has yet produced in Men's Overcoats—price Eleven and One-Half Dollars. Comparative value? Four dollars more. No money is made out of these coats, except by you, the consumer. Sizes—stout, long and regular.

Other Overcoats—the complete stock. But that's another story.

Men's $1 and $1.50 Fancy Stiff-Bosom Shirts At 65c Each

This is just as neat and handsome a collection of Shirts as a man could wish from which to select his winter's supply. Excellent materials, best of shirt-making, refined and attractive patterns.

A full third of the lot are $1.50 shirts; the balance are excellent dollar shirts. All have stiff bosoms and separate cuffs. Sizes 14 to 16½.

Sixty-five Cents Each.

Men's Blanket Bath Robes At $6.75

Forty-five of the Robes are worth $12. Nineteen are worth $10.

Just fourteen are worth $8.

There are five or six patterns and colorings of each sort; and think of buying such handsome Bath Robes right at the beginning of the season, or just a few weeks before Christmas, at $6.75.

The blankets are in the most desirable Jacquard patterns. The robes are made over properly proportioned models, by one of our most careful manufacturers. Choose, while they last, for $6.75 each. Broadway and 9th St.

Men's Derby Hats At $1.50

When you see the maker's labels in these up-to-date stylish Black Derby Hats, you'll recognize them as two lines of hats that are widely advertised and sold for $2 and $2.50 each—and considered good hats at these prices.

The maker is working on Spring models now, and gave us the rest of his Winter stock—hats in current blocks—at a very low price. Hence we offer six hundred of them

At $1.50 Each

Equal quantities of each brand; the early comers will get the best value. All sizes, of course

To add interest, we offer a quantity of our own splendid $3 Brown Derby Hats, in three stylish shades, this season's models, at the same price, $1.50 each.

It's one of the hat opportunities of the Winter.

Annex, 770 Broadway.
